The Meeting on Sunday Observance.

The Meeting on Sunday last, at Reform Club Hall, was largely attended, showing the interest felt by the people in this important subject. The fact that the venerable Chabrier Peloubet was present notwithstanding his recent severe illness, shows that the citizens of Bloomfield do not intend to have a Parisian or Berlin Sunday in New Jersey, but that the laws shall be obeyed.

The meeting was addressed first by Rev. Mr. Duffield. In summing up he remarked: there should be a unity of effort among all who desire to have the laws relating to Sunday as a day of rest observed in a proper manner.

While the strictures of the Mosaic Sabbath had been modified by our Lord Jesus, yet it was observed by Christians as a day of rest, to recuperate from the toils of the week.

The laws of New Jersey were, from the first, framed by men governed by the precepts of Christianity, were on a Christian basis, and set apart Sunday as a day of rest from labor.

Associated effort to maintain the laws would be successful if all could work together on this plane, even if they held differing views on the Temperance movement.

Mr. T. Bourne said he agreed with the speech made by Mr. Duffield on unity of effort to protect Sunday from the inroads of the law breakers.

He thought that if a thorough, determined opposition to the law defiers were shown and they were notified by a Committee that the people of Bloomfield meant to execute the laws, that they would generally cease their evil doings.

Mr. Balchelder said, that had been tried on the liquor sellers and gave a particular instance of the non-success of moral suasion on one of the number, showing that constant vigilance is necessary to compel their observance of the laws.

Mr. Chas. T. White made some remarks in relation to the policy and method of the N. Y. Sabbath Committee in grappling with the law-breakers there. He gave some statistics showing that the law-breakers were defiant even 25 years ago, the liquor sellers, as usual, being the chief criminals. Mr. J. N. Baldwin spoke of the timeliness of this effort to protect the people on the Sunday question; as the day is being wrested from them in various ways. He stated that many mills, factories, railroads and others, now make it a day for repairs of machinery, thus taking it away from the people as a day of rest and recuperation.

The Chairman, Mr. Williams, summed up with some general remarks, saying it was gratifying to see so many present in connection with this important subject. He gave notice that it would be continued next Sunday, July 5th, and cordially invited all to attend who are able, also that Rev. Albert Mann would preach on Sabbath Keeping, etc. Sunday eve, 5th, inst. at the M. E. Church.

MOONLIGHT.
(From the "Lunar Review.")
Bright above the merry moonbeams dancing over the wave.
At the foot of the mountain in the evening breeze flung wide.
Leaves the softness and delights to watch the tide.
With hand of silver sheen you sleeping white wave.
From her hand as it falls, vibrates her light guitar.
She lingers, loath, that sound that flows full and low.
Is it the beat upon the Archipelago
Of some deep gully's note from her hand's star?
Is it the perfume, whose keels, on the break in liquid
Cap the blue wave that over them break in liquid Pearls?
Is it some hovering spirit with whistling wings that Darts down to the deep from you old tower each house of stone?

Who thus disturbs the tide near the seraglio?
The dark comorants upon the sea that float.
The moatful plume of sunset, an eagle of Turkish host
With newswall boat along the water's edge plies.
The heavy sails, borne each by the wind's strong arm,
And could you stare to sound the light of your own eye?
Something like human form would stir within, as sails
Bright shine the merry moonbeams dancing over the wave.

The manuscript of a society novel by the daughter of a well-known Brooklyn clergyman has been accepted by a leading New York publishing house for appearance during the coming summer. The novel will be published anonymously, and as the characters have been drawn by the author from members of her father's congregation, it will doubtless attract considerable attention.

Two hundred and fifty thousand copies of "Called Back" have been sold in Great Britain, two authorized and six pirated editions have been issued in this country, the story has been translated into French, German, Italian, Norse, Swedish, Dutch, Roumanian and Welsh. An illustrated edition is soon to be issued by Simpkin and Marshall, London. The name of the author is Mr. F. J. Fergus, though he uses the nom de plume—Hugh Conway.

The immediate publication of the MS. diary of Shakespeare's cousin, the Town Clerk of Stratford-on-Avon, is announced. The volume will consist of autotypes of the folio pages of the MS., a transcript by experts of the British Museum, an introduction by Dr. Ingledew, and an appendix of documents illustrative of the diary, and some of them never before printed. The diary extends from 1613 to 1616—the years of Shakespeare's residence at Stratford, previous to his death on the 23rd of April (1616, O. S.) of the latter year. From beginning to end it is a record of the attempts made to enclose and of the resistance offered to the enclosure of the common-fields of Stratford, in which Shakespeare was interested not only as a freeholder, but also as the owner of a moiety of the tithes.

A volume of reminiscences of the late Gustave Doré, the French artist, is announced as being now in press in London. Embodied in this volume will be a number of drawings, water-color sketches and etchings never before given to the public view, all bearing the signature of the peerless artist whose career began at the early age of sixteen, terminated prematurely after thirty-four years of the most prodigious labor which any man ever accomplished, and during which time the artist made no less than 76,000 drawings, attaching his name forever to the masterpieces of literature.

The healing power of earthquakes is a subject for discussion in the Spanish medical press. The statement is made that in the recent shake-up at Malaga most of the patients forgot their diseases and took to the open air. The change agreed with them so well that a few only have returned to the hospital.

"A Good Cup of Coffee."

"It is one of the simplest things in the world," said the lecturer, "to make a good cup of coffee; and this can easily be accomplished by applying a little common sense. If you put boiling water on coffee, and do not let it boil, 'she' continues, 'you have all the good qualities preserved. One reason dyspeptics cannot drink coffee is because it is boiled. The style of coffee pot is just a matter of fancy. I have made as good coffee in an old tin tomato can as I have ever sipped from a cup filled from the finest French coffee urn. We should take lessons in this matter from the Turks and Arabians, who grind their coffee to a fine powder. When the coffee is ground as fine as possible put it in a little bag of unbleached muslin, which should be tied tightly enough to prevent the escape of the grounds. If you use a cup of unground coffee you can make over a quart of very strong black coffee. In making coffee many people sacrifice flavor for strength. Bitterness comes from boiling. When boiling water is placed on the bag of ground coffee it should stand at least three minutes before serving. Remember, the longer it stands the stronger it becomes. Be careful not to allow the watered coffee to boil."

"A favorite mixture of coffee," said Miss Corson, in answer to a lady in the audience, "is Mocha and Java, in the proportion of two parts of the latter, which is less expensive, to one of the former."

"Isn't it a lovely day?"
"Delightful. I feel magnificent."
"So do I. I never felt better in my life."
"Let's take a drink."
"This is awful weather."
"Awful!"
"Makes me feel miserable."
"Yes, it gives me the blues."
"Let's take a drink."

COMMERCE FLOUR.

We will pay a reward of $20,000 to any person who will produce testimonials equal to those we receive in relation to the high standard and uniform quality of any brand of flour now on the market that can be sold at as low price as the "COMMERCE."

Leading Statesmen, Lawyers, Physicians, Divines, Manufacturers and Bakers, speak of it in the highest terms.

It is noticed and remarked that the "Commerce" Flour always has a rich creamy color and that it will produce more bread than the same quantity of ordinary flour.

Some dealers will take lots of time and use every argument to persuade you to buy some "cheap" high grade flour at a high price in order to get a big profit. Don't be persuaded, but save your money by buying the uniform, standard high grade, low priced "COMMERCE."

Be sure to get the GENUINE "COMMERCE" which is always branded as follows:

Too Many Parasols.

We are bound to unload our tremendously large stock of sun umbrellas and parasols, and it is so to say that the great amount of business we have done during the past two weeks is far in excess of anything that we have ever before achieved by any house in the country. To further reduce our stock of these most seasonable goods, we shall make a

Special Sale of Parasols

Our entire stock divided in lots or extra counter room for this occasion. Such a great opportunity to buy parasols never before offered, and should not be neglected, as our prices are one half actual value. We need not say that we will make no mistake, but what can be relied upon as stated in our advertisements, while a good stock of stores will readily verify the preceding statements.

SPECIAL PARASOL SALE BEGINS MONDAY A. M., June 29.

As these are closing prices we cannot guarantee our stock to last, but those calling early are sure to have the choice to select from.

FOR NOTHING.

We shall give to all purchasers this week an elegant design in the way of a Fan which for beauty of finish and all these designs have never before been offered. The design represents a scene with a child surrounded by her pets, in the foreground having her photograph taken. This no doubt will be appreciated.

In New Jersey we are the recognized and firmly established headquarters for genuine and beautiful values in everything we sell, and our prices which are open to public inspection and comparison through our advertisements, will be found to be below anything that has ever been quoted on similar goods.
